

ABSTRACT

Part on or in a cooking, roasting, baking, or grilling device with a self-cleaning coating which enables remnants of foodstuffs to be removed without mechanical action, characterized in that the coating has a structure comprised of (a) porous particles A, and (b) a binder, wherein the porous particles A do not have a solid or liquid secondary phase in their pores (a).